LARGE ATTENDANCE OF LADIES.

The ladies, as usual, were strongly represented, apparently utilizing to the utmost this opportunity of displaying the contents of their wardrobes so far as spring and summer costumes are concerned. The court opened promptly at 10:30 a. m. The proceedings were upon the point of commencing with the resumption of the cross-examination of Mrs. Lycett Green, when the foreman of the jury, but the jurymen were desirous of inspecting the counters which, as shown by young Wilson's testimony yesterday, were the property of the Prince of Wales. These counters, by the direction of the Lord Chief Justice, were then passed into the jury box, and the jurymen, particularly the bold subject who has become a historical personage by actually "daring" to question the lrince of Wales while the latter was in the witness box, examined the £19, £5 and £2 representations with much interest and in a solemn, mysterious manner, as if expecting to read on their surface some further clew to the unraveling of the baccarat mystery, for mystery it still seems to be to many people, a split of the testimony presented, as un-

MRS. LYCEIT GREEN CROSS-EXAMINED.
When the jury had completed their inspection of the Prince of Wales' private counters, the cross-examination of Mrs. Lycett Green was firshed the defense called Lord Coventry. He stated that when was resumed. Mrs. Green was pale and hervous and seemed terribly anxious to get through with her share of the trial. But Sir Edward Clarke is too able a lawyer to lose any points on account of a lady's nervousness, so he began his cross-examination by making the young lady go again over all the ground which she had traversed yesterday in regard to the position of the tables, the players at the tables and as to the instance of cheating upon the part of Sir William.

arthur Stanley Wilson, looking at her with a puzzled expression in his face, and that he afterwards made a "borrible communication" to her. It was to the effect that he had seen the plaintiff, Sir William Gordon-Cumming, cheat while playing cards. Mrs. Wilson then repeated in detail the evidence which has already been given as to the manner in which the baronet cheated by slipping an additional counter out of his hand or flipping it across the line with a pencil when the card turned up was favorable to him. Mrs. Wilson, in addition, was most emphatic in her disclaimers that there had been any agreement entered into by the Wilson family to watch the plaintiff's play on the second night, Sept. 9, of the baccarat playing at Tranby Croft. The position which Sir William Gordon-Cumming occupied on both nights at the baccarat tables was purely the result of sections.

Williams and Lord once more placed the situation clearity before the jury, Sir Edward Clarke, addressing the iam for his signature the latter said: "That is tantamount to an admission of guilt. I won't sign it." Witness replied "That's so." There was nothing in Sir William's manner to show that he had lost his head. The witness and Gen. William's advised him as friends to sign. Plaintiff thereupon signed and promised to leave Tranbycroft early the next morning. The document was later forwarded to the Prince. Witness' diary, made at the time, was produced and found to agree with his present testimony. The diary said the writer was animated by a desire to avoid scandal and keep the Prince out of the disagreeable affair. Cross-examined, witness said that when he parted with Cumming he did so in the belief that the latter would be allowed to remain in the army and clubs.

JOHN REINOLD PARTUL'S BONES.

The discovery of a box supposed to contain the remains of the unfortunate John Reinold Paktul is reported from Kalisz, Poland. The bones are said to have been found in a lumber room in the Citadel, where they had lain for many years. The Citadel was formerly a palace, and the box is supposed to have been left there by a former ruler of Poland. The box had on it the letters "J. R. P." Paktul, it may be remembered, was put to death by Charles XII. of Sweden, on a charge of treason. He was a Russian ambassator, tor Cumfee claimed him as a subject. The discovery, if authentic, is interesting.

A New York, June 5.—Two men were sneaking along Bowery street, Newark, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning when Patroiman Hennessey noticed them, One of the men carried a small satchel which he tried to conceal. Hennessey stopped them and questioned them. They gave him such syasive answers that he took them to the Third Precinct Station. One said he was Wm. F. Taylor of Allegheny County, N. Y., and the other gave the name of Wildermont Perkins of Allegheny County, Pa. Taylor was the man with the satchel and, he was extremely nervous when it was taken from him. It was opened by the Lieutenant in charge, who took from it a brick and laid it on the deek. Taylor's jaw dropped and his eyes bulged as he saw the brick. Then his expression changed to one of profound grief and he burst out: "Oh, my God! I am rained." Perkins smiled grimly. The men said they had both received circulars from dealers in green goods promising $10 for $i$ if they would go to Hoboken. They went together and Taylor paid $400 for a package supposed to contain $4,000. The package was placed in a satchel, which Taylor felt sure yesterday had not been out of his sight for an instant. He was told not to go to any railroad station in Hoboken, but to waik to Newark and take a train there and not to open the satchel until he was out of Hoboken, as it would be dangerous to be caught with the money. He followed instructions and did not look into the satchel until it was opened by the Newark police. The curious part of the story is that Perkins had $5' in good money after running the gauntiet of the Hoboken gang of "green goods men." He gave $5 to Taylor, who had been left penniless by his transaction. The two men were sent to police headquarters to see Detective Stainsby, who showed them the photograph cabinet. movement, Archbishop Iraianu is quoted as follows:

I have seen the official denial of the representative of the Deutsche Americanischer Priester Verein, or German Clerical Society of America, discissing all knowledge of or go-operation in the Calenniy memorial. What this representative will not dany is that the Cahensiy memorial what this representative will not dany is that the Cahensiy memorial is nearly word for word the document of the terms priests of St. Louis, the founders of the verein, sent to Rome in 1886 by Rev. Whatever the spirit of the Cahensiy merement, it thrives in the halis of the verein, and the verein is an exotic to which American air is most uncongenial. One denial of some of Cahensiy's movements, when he is being defeated, will not redeem the verein before the tribunal of public optinion.

SECRETARY FORBER'S DENIAL.

Rev. Father Foerber, rector of St. Mary's Church and secretary of the Deutsche Americanischer Priester Verein, was seef in his study on South Third street, and in reply to a question denied that there was any similarity between the Cahensiy memorial and any movement ever started by the German Priests' Association. "I unhesitatingly stamp as untrue any statement that the German priests are urging any such movement as the Cahensiy matter is represented to be. The German-American priests are good Americans and believe in upholding American institutions. Our society has had nothing whatever to do with this movement started abroad." INDORSES REV. MUEHLSIEPEN.

Dr. Wm. Preuss, editor of the Amerika, the daily German Catholic paper referred to in the Ireland Interview, was seen but declined to discuss the matter further than to state that the paper fully indorsed the views of Vicar-General Muchlsiepen, as published in Monday's Post-Dis-announcing that at the consistory held in the Holy City to-day Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, Minn., had been "reserved in petto" by the Pope for the vacant American Cardinalate, and that he would accordingly be declared a Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church at the consistory to be held in December next. The intelligence created considerable exciteconsistory to be held in December next. The intelligence created considerable excitement, not unmingled with deep regret at the final overthrow of all hope for the elevation of the venerable Archbishop Peter Richard Kenrick to the dignity of a Prince of the Church. IThere was no doubt expressed, however, that the Pope's action of to-day if correctly reported effectually dispelled all uncertainty as to the American prelate to be so honored, as there is but one instance in the history of the Catholic Church where a prelate "reserved"

Catholic Church where a prelate "reserved in petto" for the Cardinalate has falled to reach that eminence at the consistory following. The news from Rome was being discussed at Fox's Catholic book store by a number of the clergy.

AN INTERESTING FUNCTION.

The "reserving in petto" of a prelate to be elevated to the Cardinalate is a Papal function of novel interest. The expression means, literally, "the reserving in the breast" of the name of the future Cardinal, and consists in the Pope describing to the consistory the prelate to be so honored, without actually naming him, as was doubtless done at the consistory in Rome to day. His Holines proceeds to picture to the assembled Cardinals the one who is shortly to become one of their number. He does so by describing minutely the principal works and characteristics of the prelate to be honored, that at the conclusion of his address there can be no doubt as to the one indicated. His name is not given, however, but is "held in the breast" of the Pope until the meeting of the consistory following such declaration. At that next consistory the name of the prelate "reserved in petto" is then "taken from the bosom" of the Pope and made public to the world. This final action in the present in the consistory to be held in Rome and the consistory to be held in Rome and the consistory to be held in the world. This final action in the present in the case and has the call in Cincinnati. PATHER MALLINGER.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 5.—There will be 10,...
000 sick people at Troy Hill on St. Anthony's day, to be cured by the famous Father Mallinger, whose cure of all manner of disease borders on the miraculous. His greatest curative power is on St. Anthony's day, and knowing this, the invalids for hundreds of miles are flocking in. Some crawl, others are carried, others are in chairs or walk on crutches, and in the mass almost every known allment can be seen.

A Bailroad Man Dead. NEW YORK, June 5.—Wm. McGibney, the Eastern agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, died at midnight last night from pneumonia.

True to the predictions of Sergt. Hammon of the Signal Service, the cold wave arrived last night and the temperature dropped twenty degrees. The low area which caused the sultry weather yesterday and the day before passed on to the east and made way for the cold winds from the north. Another low barometer, which appeared in Texas last Wednesday is now at the western borders of Missouri, causing rain in enormous quantities and this low area will reach here this evening, bringing rain with it. All along the track of this low area from the western line of Missouri to the center of Texas rain has fallen, and in some places is still failing. The low area is traveling so slowly, and it is thought that the rain will continue to fall during the night and possibly until Sunday morning that spoiling the day for the wholesale grocers' plenic, and the races to-morrow, and also the Boston-St. Louis base ball game.

The only hope is that the high barometer hovering over Michigan, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio, will continue its course south and west and retard the progress of the rain area marching up from that direction, If the two areas meet in this vicinity very heavy rains will fall, accompanied perhaps with severe storms, which may last several days, as the moisture in suspense must fall, and instand of traveling along distributing rain the East it will all fall in this vicinity. The rain area this morning covered part of Colorado, Northern Texas, Indian Territory, England in anger to lay his complaint before Peter the areat.

Peter was indignant, and demanded on a charger the heads of the creditors of the Minister, who had taken such severe measures to collect a debt.

In response to this demand the English Minister replied that unfortunately the power of the Queen was limited, andhet at undr the law the decapitation of the offenders was impossible. English law had allowed this recourse to all creditors, and they could in no way be punished for availing themselves of it. In order to sheld impecunious embassadors from future demands and to prevent them from obtaining credit Parliament would pass an act exempting them from imprisonment, and this the ministry of Queen Anne hoped would be satisfactory to the Carof all the Russias, but there was no power in England to punish the offenders. The City Council will either be visited to-night by a body of street laborers, or else there will be a parada to-morrow of the men who are suffering for food because of the Council's negligence of public business.

They will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon to decide which course to pursue.

Some of them are inclined to wait, with a hope that the appropriation bill will be reported to-night, but others feel that it is useless to delay any longer and they might as well make their demand for work at once.

A SERIOUS SITUATION.

This was pay-day and anyone who witnessed the scenes at the sub-office of the Street Department, on Clark avenue near Jefierson, will thoroughly appreciate the extreme condition to which the laborers have been brought by the sheer negligence of the Assembly. Men who have families of five and six, with children sick and wives without food, were paid as little as $1.50-all they had made in the last two weeks. On that they must exist for two weeks more, with the prospect of receiving no more than they did oday. How they are to live is a problem hey discuss with serious faces, but they cannot solve it.

I don't know what we will do, for the groceries will not give laborers credit when they are not working and we have to pay cash or get nothing. This money won't keep my family in food until next pay-day, but we will have to get it some way. The most that any one of the laborers drew to-day was $5 and some of them have large families. Eighteen days ago the rollers were taken off the streets, the grading was stopped, they stopped putting down macadam and nothing has been done since then except to patch a few bad places and that don't take many men. Some of the men have been left without money and I don't know how they are going to live."

of that sort. It will be done as quietly as it is possible for 100 or more men to take action in such a way.

CRITICISING THE COUNCIL.

Another of the men talked quite freely about the Administration, but he refused to give his name because, he said, "when there is work to be done the bosses can choose the men to do it; if my name goes into the paper they won't choose me. But," he continued," we complain because we know the money is in the Treasury to pay for this work; the work is to be done, and the only reason the Council does not provide for it is because no contractor is interested in it. Work on the City Hall is not stopped, because the contractors are there and they see that that business is attended to, but the Council don't care for us and hundreds of men thrown out of the only work they can do, while contractors' men are making their wages. We know that there is no reason why the bill should not be passed except that the Council won't hurry itself to give us work, but if it is not passed to night we will go to the City Hall and see about it ourselves."

SCENE AT THE DISTRICT OFFICE.

Scene at the district office, where the laborers were being paid off, was in itself significant and suggestive of the condition of the men. "Gang overseers," supplied with the pay-slips showing to what sums the workmen were entitled, stood outside on the street. As one of a certain "gang" would approach his overseer would hand him the slip bearing his own name, and a quick dart into the "office" would show with what eagerness the pay was to be received. Yet in every instance the amount was pitifully small. Nearly all the "slips" were for one day's work only in each week, making the sum of $1.50 represent the weekly earnings of honest men, who are willing and anxious to labor for the support of their families, and who had expected the city to at least promptly fulfill its contract with them. The men themselves stood around in little, disappointed groups, the sole topic of their disappointed groups, the sole topic of their dismal conversation being an occasional dreary surmise as to what the Council would the men who might come up, and they were joined by a Poer-Disparch reporter. It was plainly apparent that the overseers are in hearty sympathy with the workmen. They are extremely fearful, however, that any cooperation on their part, should it become known, would result in an immediate loss of their own positions.

"I have heard my men talking about the proposed parade to the City Hall and visit to the Council Chamber," said one, "but have not learned any of the details. I think the great trouble until now has been to get a leader who would assume open direction of the affair. The men would have flocked gladly to a leader at the slightest summons, as they are really in a desperate condition. There is no question to-day that the trouble has come to a climax, and if the laborers have not already decided to visit the Council Chamber to-night, they will certainly decide how, before they get away from here. So far as I am concerned, I honestly believe it is the only course left for them to adopt, but you inderstand that I can not afford to take part in their action. The public does not realize what condition these laborers are in. They and their families are actually suffering, and with the Council dilly-dailying as it has been, the only prospect ahead is one of almost utter destitution. The men are very careful in talking about their intentions when an 'overseer' is around, but they are preparing for a demonstration beyond any doubt, and in every gang there is but little else discussed among themselves. I think a parade such as they propose would force the Council to take action through the sheer strength of the popular indignation that would be aroused by the spectacle."

Overseer No. 2 was equally emphatic in his remarks, stating that he had heard the men under him advocating the march to the City Hall to-night, and believed that it would be

The Council meets this evening in regular session, and should Mr. Bensiek carry out the plans which he intimates having in mind, some lively work may be the result. Under the most favorable development, the Council will find itself in a most unpleasant tangle, partly because of the defiance of Mr. Bensiek and partly because of the disregard of the rules on the part of others. Mr. Bensiek's and partly because of the disregard of the rules on the part of others. Mr. Bensiek's and partly because of the stream of the stream of asphaltum. We have tried brick pavements, but find that the brick is crumbling away very fast. I hope to get some valuable pointers from St. Louis."

Maj. Murphy turned Mr. Ellis over to one of the Street Department men named Duffy, who was instructed to show Mr. Ellis representative pleces of every kind of street paving used in the city. A trip was taken to Forest Park and back over granite, telford, macadam and asphaltum.

firm, and in some cases higher.

The result of the meeting of the stockholders of the Central Silver, held yesterday afternoon, was by no means satisfactory. A great deal of feeling was manifested, and no agreement was arrived at. The bondholders decline to put up any more money unless the stockholders agree to contribute their share. The latter are not satisfied with the situation and the consequence is that the matter has been postponed until the next meeting of the stockholders. The amount to be raised is $3,000.

The Chairman of the committee refuses to comply, and is absent from the meeting and cannot be found. The bill in question cannot be reported because, like the chairman of the committee, it cannot be produced. With these difficulties the Council will, in all probability, have to deal. Mr. Bensiek has inferred that it will be impossible to find him. He has said that the bill over which the fight is now being made is looked up in his safe and will stay there until

Special B. P. L. Meeting.

A special meeting of the Board of Public Improvements was called by President Burnet for 12 o'clock to-day. The particular purpose of the meeting was to approve vouchers for Contractor O'Meara, who is doing the first course of granite work on the new City Hall. C. W. Mann, the architect, asked for the meeting, explaining that he did not know there was no regular meeting to-day. Some of the board members expressed the hope that after Mr. Mann had been here a year or two longer helwould learn what was going on.

At the meeting a number of routine matters were moved forward a meeting, and the Street Department started seme new bills.

HUNTINGTON'S IDEA.

Mr. C. P. HUNTINGTON says the railroads of this country waste a great part of their earnings "in keeping up unnecessary ofthem pay a dividend of 5 per cent on their may be done.

This is an admission from one of the most grasping of the railway kings that our railway management is very defective, and that the interest of both the stockholder and the general public could and should be promoted by more stringent regulation. It is an admission that stockholders as well as the general public, suffer by the rebates and commissions allowed to big shippers who already have the inside track to such an extent that smaller merchants cannot compete with them in busi-ness. It is an admission that the Federal and State laws passed to prevent this sort of thing would be more beneficial if they were more stringent or more effectually

Probably because his own name has been too often connected therewith, Mr. HUNT-INGTON fails to mention other great wastes which might be cut off in the interest of both stockholders and shippers. We refer to the sums spent in influencing legislatures and public officials, the sums spent in subsidizing competing lines to keep rates up to the stock-watering point, the money "swiped" by managers' rings or spent in stock-jobbing operations.

Mr. HUNTINGTON, however, is not asking for laws to punish such waste as criminal or to protect the public from watered stock exactions. Such regulation would deprive the railroad business of all its charms for him. The only scheme of reform he proposes is the consolidation of all the roads into a grand monopoly ruled by a combination of great capitalists.

That such a combination could effect great saving in railroad service is obvious, but it is equally obvious that it could be as parsimonious and as exacting as it chose to be in accommodating the public. The of the Wales "set" can be dishonored is people of this country would not long tolerate such a monopoly or submit to its exactions, and every plea for the consolidation or centralized control of our railroads is simply an argument for a KICKER it will have to deal with several stricter control of railroad operations by thousand kickers, who will be much the government of the people in the in-

The St. George's Church touble, in which Dr. R. M. Holland, pastor of St. George's Church at Chestnut and Isaumont streets, is at loggerheads with som of the members of his flock, developed into an injunction suit in the Circuit Cour to-day. Shortly before the opening lour of court Mr. Edward Cunningham, of the law firm of Cunningham & Elliot, appeared at the Circuit Clerk's office and filed the sait. The style of the petition is: "The Redor, Wardens and Vestrymen of St. George's Church against Patrick M. Sined, Sheiff of the city of St. Louis, and Divis R. Boogher, J. P. Boogher and Wm. C. Marshall." Cunningham & Elliothave associated with them in the suit the law firm of Phillips, Stewart & Co.

TO PREVENT THE SALE OF SHARES.

Mr. Cunningham stated that the injunction asked for was one to restrain the Sheriff from selling certain shares in the St. George Church society. Attorney Conningham further stated that the execution had been issued and the shares were to be sold at 'sheriff's sale next Thursday unless prevented by an order of court. Mr. Cunningham stated their position was that the stock in equity belonged to the wardens and vestrymen, and that a sale of it to Smith would work irreparable damages to the Society of Wardens and Vestrymen.

Mr. Branch, by R. A. Holland, his attorney in fact."

Mr. Bascome then ased him for the certificates, but Dr. Holland refused to surrender them and said he would keep them. Mr. Bascome insists that the notice on the stubs is not a transfer, because the certificates say on their faces that they can only be transferred on the books of the society and by their surrender, and as Dr. Holland refused to surrender them they still stand in the name of Joseph W. Branch. The certificates are indorsed by Mr. Branch in blank. How Dr. Holland obtained possession of them is not known, but the Sheriff has posted a notice of the sale of these 263.98 shares and it is a question how he will sell them without the certificates if the injunction is not ordered. One of the officers of the church said that the Sheriff would sell the equity rights in the sell the equity rights in the stock and the purchaser would then begin suit to recover the certificates. At present it looks as if the church was involved in a legal fight which would not be ended soon.

Yesterday morning Attorney Jeff D. Storts went into the Court of Oriminal Correction and obtained from Judge Claiborne a commutation of Williams' sentence. The prisoner's term of confinement would not have expired until July 7, but through the intervention of the attorney the commutation was secured. At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the papers were issued and placed in Mr. Stort's possession, yet no demand was made on Jailer Callahan for the prisoner's person antil almost 9 o'clock in the evening. During the time that Williams was in jail it had been discovered that the man was wanted on a charge of burglary. Storts probably learned of the fact and for this reason delayed the release until a time when he thought all of the detectives were gone from the building. It so happened, however, that Chief of Detectives Desmond came along just at the right moment. He suspected that something was up and refused the attorney's offer to "go across the street." The next minute Williams was released and started out of the building. Desmond recognized him on the instant and at once took him into custody.

To-day the Chicago authorities were notimond recognized him on the instant and at once took him into custody.

To-day the Chicago authorities were noticed of the arrest and a message was also sent to the Cincinnati police, the prisoner being well-known in that city. Williams admits that he was arrested in Chicago for burgiary in 1887, but insists that the case against him was "squared."

A PROPRESIONAL THERE.

Against Private Watchman McNames.

Application was made this morning in the office of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep for a warrant against a Mr. McNames, a private watchman, living at 6917 Noonan avenue. The complainant was William Dayberry, a carpenter, living at 6917 Noonan avenue. It appears that about 2:80 o'clock on the afternoon of June 3 Mr. Dayberry, was horribly gored by a cow belonging to McNames, which had been tied to atree on a vacant lot near the latter's residence. The father was at work on an adjacent building and witnessed the agonizing sight. By the time he reached the scene the boy had been terribly gored and trampled on. One of the horns had entered his head just behind the ear and penetrated to the base of the brain, while the sharp boof had crushed and mangled his breast and abdomen. Death ensued in less than half an hour. Deputy Coroner Meade held an inquest and returned a verdict in accordance with the evidence, Mr. Dayberry having sworn that McNamee had on several occasions ment for a few days. In the event that an ment for a few days. In the event that any criminal prosecution is instituted the warrant will be drawn up under sec. 2478 of the Revised Statutes, which says that "If the owners of a mischievous animal, knowing its propensities, unlawfully suffer it to go at large, or shall keep it without ordinary care, and such animal, while so at large or not confined, kill any human being, who shall have taken the precautions which the circumstances.

APROFESSIONAL THIEF.

The prisoner is a professional burgiar, thief and shoplifter. In 1896 he was arrested by the St. Louis authorities for stealing a seal skin cap from Hart & Duff. The cap was missed a moment after Williams had left the store, and Geo. W. Dashman, co-defendant with Lizzie Hotson in the manslaughter action growing out of the Fitts' case, who was then in Hart & Duff semploy, followed him to a saloon and caused his arrest. The cap was not found on his person. However, the following morning three men entered the store at a time when but two salesmen were on duty. Nothing was purchased, but wnen they had gone the missing cap was found between two hat boxes on the counter. Hart & Duff then dismissed the action against Williams. The prisoner's picture was taken at that time, and is now No. 89 in the Rogues' Gallery at the Four Courts. Another picture sent from Cincinnati is numbered 58s.

Coupin (Democrat) spoke in favor of the board, and Messrs. Ensice, Green and Dixon (Democratic) opposed it. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 66 to 88, and the board is sustained.

The next proposition was to the effect that the salary for secretary of the board should not be paid to him nor to anyone else soing as Dr. Rauch has any connection with the board. The War Department Investigating the Case of William Newby.

AN APPLICATION FOR HONORABLE DIS-CHARGE CAUSES THE INQUIRY.

capt. Porter of the Government Secret Service Department, stationed at Chicago, is at work on the "Newby Mystery" in the interest of the War Department, As a result of his work it is probable that at an early date there will be taken at Mill Shoals, White County, Ill., the testimony of a number of witnesses in which the strange story of Wm. Newby of that place will be told in full, the official record of this testimony to be placed in the archives at Washington. The "Newby Mystery" is the case of William Newby, who after being counted as dead and buried on the battlefield of Shiloh for nearly thirty years suddenly reappeared at his old home and was identified by his wife, children and brothers as the "dead come to life." His story has already been told in the Post-Dis-Patch, and comprised a remarkable and somewhat pathetic record of half-crazed wandering from poor-house to poor-house since the war-time days when he was duly chronicled as "Killed at Shiloh."

APPLIED FOR HIS DISCHARGE.

The cause of the Secret Service investigation of the mystery is that old Wm. Newby has applied for his "honorable discharge" from the United States Army, and that there is likely to arise one of the most novel questions of Mentity, and It may be of "back pay," perhaps, ever known in the military history of any country. Accounted for as dead since the battle of Shiloh, April 6, 182, and a pension of $12 per month paid his supposed widow for several years past, the reappearance of Newby among the living causes a curious complication. That he was absent from his command, Company B of the Fortieth Illinois, ever after the battle of Shiloh, and consequently rendered no military service to his country since that date, arose from no fault of his. The missing solder, rendered partly demented by the awful wound in the bead received at Shiloh, not only forgot his duty as a solder, but forgot even his personal identity, for at least a quarter of a century. The only communication yet received, however, from the Adjutant-General of the Army has been the official acknowledgment of the early the receipt of the application for discharge.

At the close of the difficult task of tracing Newby in his drifting life since the ending of the war, the war Department will be requested by the friends of the old soldier to order all testimony as to his final identification to be taken at Mill Shoals, fill. When this is done, it is said that it e occasion will be practically a reunion of the old Fortieth Illinois, and the "identification for Newby" will become, almost comically, a matter for regimental action. The event would certainly be as dramatic as could be wished, not the least remarkable feature of it being the presence of six members of Company 8, who have been sure for nearly thirty years that they duried Newby in the Shiloh trenches on the night of April 8, 1862.

One of its strange features, however, will be the evidence of a sister who is not yet sure that Wm. Newby has indeed returned to life. This sister was a grown young woman when Newby went to the front in 1861. She remem-

GRAND AVENUE AUCTION

Half the Property Disposed of to 860 Different Buyers, Nearly All of Whom

CLOSE OF A MOST REMARKABLE PUBLIC

Will Build Homes Upon Their Pur-chases—Other Real Estate Notes. The great Grand avenue auction sale closed to-day at 12:45 o'clock, at which time all the ground west of Tower Grove avenue and all property south of Folsom avenue had been posed of comprises a little over one the original tract of 36,000 front feet. To-day's sales aggregated a little over 4,000 front feet, the average price per front foot being about $18.50.

There were plenty of people upon the grounds when the sale closed to have bought a great deal more of the property, but the owners concluded that, as all their land, including the Grand avenue frontage north of Folsom avenue, was all in one body, no sales having been made in that section, they would not break into that portion of it, but hold on a little longer to get some of the benefits which will accrue from enhanced values stimulated during the first two days of the auction by sales of lots to a greater number of buyers than was ever known of at any previous auction in this city. The effect of so many people buying in that tract has already enhanced values, numerous of the successful bidders who bought for home sites having been offered advances of from $1 to $2 a foot upon their purchases. This is rather a tardy apprecia-tion of the desirability of the ground which was allowed to go at such low prices, but the effect is good, nevertheless, and will be of as much benefit to the unsold portion to that part which has been parted with by the grantors. They, seeing that the future, under these conditions, was much brighter than the present, it was concluded the better judgment to stop forcing the land to sale at such rainously low prices, and wait until building improvements in the locality would create a more active demand for the lots at very much higher figures.

In all there has been about 18,000 front feet sold and near as can be calculated this frontage has been purchased by 360 persons, if not more, as it is well-known that two parties joined issues on many occasions in buying one of the 50-foot lots. Euclid Park is a new subdivision which has just been laid out in beautiful style and which is bound to attract attention. The property was formerly known as Samuel Cupples' Cote Brilliante residence place. Charles J. Dunnerman is the agent.

The demand for residence sites in the Blow sub-division on Grand avenue south of Arsenal street is growing. Several lots have been sold in the tract lately. The sale yesterday of 50x127 feet of the ground on the north side of Connecticut street, 223 feet west of Grand avenue, is reported by R. T. Blow to T. S. Barness at 522 a foot.

What folly it would be to cut grass with a pair of scissors! Yet peo-ple do equally silly things every day. Modern progress has grown up from the hooked sickle to the swinging scythe and thence to the lawn mower. So don't use scissors!

But do you use SAPOLIO? If you don't you are as much behind the use as if you cut grass with a dinner knife. Once there were no soaps. Then one soap served all purposes. Now the sensible folks use one soap in the toilet, another in the tub, one soap in the stables, and SAPOLIO for all securing and house cleaning. for all scouring and house-cleaning.

of trade relating to emigration and immigration from and into the United Kingdom during 1890 show a decrease in the former and an increase in the latter. Thus the total number of emigrants, including foreigners, to places outside of Europe, was last year 315,980, as compared with $42,647 in 1889 and 388,648 in 1889, the British and Irish emigrants decreased in number from 279,928 and 283,785 in 1888 and 1889 to 218,116 in 1890. On the other hand, the immigrants, including foreigners, increased in numbers from 128,679 and 147,398 in 1888 and 1889 to 415,910 last year, those of British and Irish origin having increased in even larger proportion—namely from 94,183 in 1889 to 108,070 in 1889 and 186,470 in the last year. According to former experience, however, a decline from the present point is to be looked for as regards immigration. Of the total 315,980 immigrants no fewer than 228,522 came to the United States, the next highest number, 31,877, soing to British North America, 21,870 to Australasia, 13,088 to Cape of Good Hope and Natal and the remaining 16,088 to "other places." Of the grand total 76,081 went as cabin passengers and 28,589 went steerage, and as many as 190,785 started from Liverpool. The 185,990 immigrants from places outside Europe were furnished by the United States of America to the number of 118,881, British North America supplying 10,414, Australasia 19,885, Cape of Good Hope and Natal 7,007 and "all other places" 11,648.

THE KING-POSTON TRAGEDY.

Col. H. Clay King on Trial at Memphis,

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 5.—After much trouble eleven jurors have been secured to try Col. H. Clay King for the murder of David H. Poston, and the twelfth man is expected to-day. Gen. J. H. McLeary, a law partner of King's brother in Texas, has come on to defend him.

of King's brother in Texas, has come on to defend him.

The killing of David H. Poston by Col. Henry Clay King was the outcome of the celebrated suit of Col. King against Mrs. Mary J. Pillow, widow of the Confederate general, Gideon J. Pillow, and thereby hangs a scandal which has been extensively aired in the Memphis newspapers. Several years ago King, who has a wife and grown children, met Mrs. Pillow and surrendered to her charms. The fair widow was nothing loth, it seems, and in a short while the tongue of gossip made very free with their names. The outcome of the acquaintance was that King and Mrs. Pillow established themselves on a plantation in Lee County, Ark., belonging to the former, taking up their quarters in the same house. They claimed that their connection was merely a business partnership, and that Mrs. Pillow had invested some thousands of dollars in the plantation. Later on it appears that King made several deeds, conveying to Mrs. Pillow the plantation in Arkansas and his property in this city, but with the understanding that the convey-ances were not to be recorded until such a time as King could get a diverce from his wife and marry his bewitehing 'partner.' This he falled to get, and the two fell out. Mrs. Pillow had indeed to recorded and the first thing Kipg knew he had neither plantation, city property nor partner. Then he brought suit for the recovery of his lost real estate. Mrs. Pillow engaged the Poston to defend her case and it was as her counsel that David Poston incurred the enmity of Col. King. The latter charged that Poston made Insulting and outrageous remarks about his (King's) wife's character. This, though, was denied by aimost everyone connected with the case. After saving up his wrath King finally on March 10 last met Attorney Poston on a prominent commercial street of Memphis, Tenn., and advanced toward Poston as if to greet him. Poston waited King's approach and as they met King drew his pistol and shot Poston in the stomach. The latter reeled and fell in an unconscious

Mr. and Mrs. Zucker's Babe Born Without

New York, June 5 .- An extraordinary freak of nature, a child born without eyes, is bors of the afflicted family and also exciting great interest among physicians and scientists. The child is a son of Mr. and Mrs tists. The child is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Zucker of 228 stanton street and was born two weeks ago last Sunday. Both father and mother are good specimens of humanity physically. Their sight is good and neither has ever worn glasses. The look of sadness and disappointment in the faces of the father and the nurse after the birth of the child first betrayed to the sick mother the fact that all was not well with her baby. She repeatedly asked to see her babe, but she was put off from time to time with kindly excuses. Finally it was thought best to allow her to see the child. It was brought to her and when she discovered the absence of its eyes she uttered a cry and began to weep bitterly. Where the eyes should be there are only two sunken hollows. The eyelids bitterly. Where the eyes should be there are only two sunken hollows. The eyelids were then closed as tight as if they were glued together. Otherwise the child was perfectly developed. A few days afterward a line began to make its appearance across the hollows as though the lids were getting ready to part. The line began to expand until finally could be parted with the fingers, disclosing sightless sockets, in the center of which could be discerned a tiny blue spot, which is supposed to have been substituted by nature for the pupil of the ordinary size. The father supposed to have been substituted by nature for the pupil of the ordinary size. The father then took the child to the eye and ear infirmary at Thirteenth street. He was told that nothing could be done for it. Dr. Weeks of the eye and ear infirmary said yesterday that the case was an exceedingly rare one. There was, he said, a rudimentary eye on the right side but none of any kind on the left side. There have been instances where children have been born without eyes, but it was due to disease before birth. The case, he said, would be brought before the medical society next Monday. The child will be totally blind forever. tally blind forever.

HE IS SAID TO PREACH THE DOCTRINE OF MATERIALISM.

An Organ of the Baptists Criticises Dr. A New Residence for St. Rose's Pastor -Children's Day Celebrations-Service of Song at Central Presbyterian.

The American Baptist, edited by Rev. Dr. D. B. Ray, has created a sensation in Baptist circles by editorially charging in yesterday's issue that Rev. J. M. Carter of Humansville, Polk County, Mo., "has departed from the fath as delivered to the saints, by teaching

The article throughout is bitter in its denunciation of the Rev. Carter, charging that 'he is a gross materialist, believing with the Adventists that the soul dies with Carter possesses "considerable eloquence, wit and humor, by which he is leading quite wit and humor, by which he is leading quite a number of the members of the churches into soul-destroying heresy." The article holds that it is the duty of the paper to "expose false teachers, especially those under the name of Baptists," and says that Rev. Carter still claims to be a Baptist in order to take with him as many followers as possible, concluding with this sentence, printed in italic: "Will these churches fol-

The Rev. Mr. Carter is not very well-known The Rev. Mr. Carter is not very well-known in St. Louis except by reputation. He presides over the Baptist Churches at Marionville and Ash Grove, where he is charged with preaching the heresy. His membership is in the Humansville Church, where his trial must occur. The mode of procedure will be to call a conference of Baptist ministers who will listen to the testimony. Dass upon the case and church, who pass finally upon the charges, no appeal from the decision reached being possible. But another Baptist church can, should they see fit, admit him to membership and give back the ordination which another congregation took from him. Owing to the straightforward charges brought a trial will be called to convene in

Although Dr. Ray could not be seen this morning the information was gleaned from his assistants that the charges were published -because of information received in letters from Humansville, and that after an investigation it was concluded that the proper course to pursue was to publish the facts in the American Baptist. In this office the claim is made that little more is known than what was published, but that this is sufficient to oust the Rev. Carter, who, it is said, has openly preached restorationism

The gentleman said that it is doctrine. The gentleman said that it is a well known and undisputed fact that not more than one-fourth of the members of Cen-tenary have taken any interest in the second blessing revivals which have been in progress for the past six or seven weeks, which accounts, he claims, for the lack of interest displayed in the church, and the nec discontinuing the daily services at this time. American Race Horses Being Shipped to England-Fast Time Made at Morris Park-The Baltimores Again Succumb to the Browns-Sporting News.

To-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the horses will be summoned to the post for the first race of what promises to be the most successful running meeting ever held at St. Louis. Everything is now in readiness for the meeting and there will be more horses at the Fair Grounds than have ever before been seen at the track. The races will be run every day. Sundays Residence for St. Rose's Rector.

St. Rose's new church at West Cabanne is rapidly approaching completion. Nothing but the finishing touches of the painter's brush remains to be done to this handsome suburban chapel. Father McGlynn, the pastor, is busily engaged making preparations for the dedication which takes place June 21. Rev S. B. Phelan will deliver the dedicatory sermon.

The residence formerly occupied by H. W. Belding, 5824 Estel avenue, has been purchased by St. Rose's Parish and will be used by Father McGlynn, the purchase price being $5,800. The residence is one of the most desirable on Rose Hill, being handy to the new church.

outside races during the meeting here. This will increase the attendance at the track here materially.

It is not positively known yet what horses will start in the Derby, which will be run to-morrow, and will be the great attraction of the day. Chimes, who has been regarded as a probable starter, is coughing and will not go to the post. Michael Swigert's colt, who will probably be the favorite in the betting, is already here. He is pretty certain to start. Dickerson, Vallera, Balgowan, Col. Wheatley, Linlithgow, Judge Stearns, Leader and Fero are the others most likely to go to the post. Some of them will undoubtedly be scratched, but there are a number of other possible starters. It is not likely, however, that more than a half'dozen colts will go to the post. It has been the general belief that the race would be between Michael and Dickerson, but Vallera's showing at Latonia yesterday proves him to be in it strong. In fact, if the track is heavy he is pretty certain to prove the winner. This chestnut son of Springbok showed what kind of a mud horse he is by conceding twelve pounds each to Dickerson and Georgetown yesterday and winning by a length from the former and three lengths from the latter at a mile and an eighth. He made his race, too, at the finish, overhauling Dickerson, who had the lead. This showed that Vallera was

AMERICAN AND ENGLISH RACERS.

The racing men are beginning to arrive in large numbers, and by to-morrow morning hundreds of them will be in the city. At the hotels horse talk is indulged in on all sides, and the prediction is made in well informed quarters that the coming meeting will prove to be the most successful ever held in this city. In speaking of the prospect of the senson Capt. R. A. Comstock of Lexington, Ky., who is at the Southern, said: "The American horse is just beginning to receive the recognition abroad that is his due. When I first entered the business of horse raising, about eighteen years ago, the majority of our best horses, or. at least those that were considered the best for breeding, came from England, and the off-spring of an imported sire was worth more in the market than those bred from native blood. This, however, is all changed now. To be sure, we occasionally import English horses, but I know it to be a fact that more animals are shipped to England from America than from America to England horses are fast, fully as fast as ours, but as a rule, their fleetfooted stock, while admirably proportioned, lacks bone. Where the English horses are fast, fully as fast as ours, but as a rule, their fleetfooted stock, while admirably proportioned, lacks bone. Where the English have tried to breed for bone they have sacrificed speed, and, as a result, the racetrack life of their fast horses has been short, far shorter than is the case with us. The reason is that nowhere in England, in fact nowhere in the world, is there such a region for raising horses as the bluegrass districts of Kentucky and Tennessee. There we have a rich loam overlying limestone, the limestone being very near the surface. The grass supplies a bone-making ingredient that renders our horses speedy without making them clumsy, and even under our faulty racing system, which is admirably calculated to put a premium on weedy brutes and to break down good horses, the life of a racer in this county is fa AMERICAN AND ENGLISH RACERS.

Old time ball cranks will note the reappearance yesterday, after a long retirement, of two veteran ball players, both third basemen, Jerry Denny of the New York Giants and Tom Burns of the Windy City ag-Giants and Tom Burns of the Windy City aggregation. Denny was at one time the crack third baseman of the world. When he guarded that territory for the old champion Providence team he had no equal. His fielding was the pride of Rhode Island and nothing was foo good for him in those days. When the Providence team went under, the St. Louis Leagus Club after considerable trouble and expense captured Denny, and with McQuery on first, Dunlap on second, Glasscock at short stop and Jerry ooking after third, had the finest infield ever placed on a ball field. But fate was against the team, and after three years the old Black placed on a ball field. But fate was against the team, and after three years the old Black Diamonds, as they were called, went to pieces, and Denny and Glasscock were transferred to Indianapolis against their inclinations, as the New York League management made desperate efforts to get the pair.

The men remained at indianapolis until the League club there was abandoned at the end of the season of '89. Then New York secured them, and last season both Denny and Glasscock played with the League, refusing to play with the Players' League. Glasscock put up a spiendid game both in the field and at the bat. Denny did not play up to his standard by any means, and claimed to be in poor health. Again this year he claimed his health was poor, and although he started to play he put up such a frightful article in the few games that he participated in that he was laid off, and Bassett, a substitute infelder, replaced him. The latter has played excellently, and will be retained at the bag. Denny made his appearance yesterday on the Cleveland team, to whom he has been released. He played poorly. It is the prevailing impression that his base ball days are over.

Burns also started in this season to look after base No. 8 for the Chicago aggregation, but was unfortunately injured and compelled to retire, Anson, after a good deal of trouble, secured a youngster named Dahlen, who has come out with flying colors, and in consequence the big captain is loth to part with him. Burns in the meantime recovered and has been ready to return to his old stamping ground, but Anson concluded to give him a rest and his retirement from the Chicago pay-roll was expected. Yesterday Burns appeared at third again, but Dahlen may have been indisposed. It is questionable whether Burns will be kept at that bag. Burns is considered to be fairty well supplied with this world's goods and if Anson drops him he will, it is thought, retire for good. The retirement of Denny and Burns would lake the last of the old-time players who have covered that difficult position off the field. Hick Carpenter of the Cincinnati crowd disappeared some time ago, Sutton of the old Boston champions is knocking about in the Western Association somewhere, Deacon White of the old Buffalo

Sutton of the old Boston champions is knocking about in the Western Association somewhere, Deacon White of the old Buffalo cracks and Detroit champions is living on a farm, Dude Esterbrook is trying to pick up a living in New York City and the rest have disappeared out of public sight unnoticed. And so they disappear without a tear.

TWO CONTRACT FURNERS.

Charley King is not pitching the ball he is getting paid for. The Pittsburg pirates claim that they are paying the blonde twirler $5,000 per annum. At Brooklyn Tuesday he had little or no speed, and was batted at will. His speed, which is his main reliance, has, it is reported, gone back on him.

Third Baseman Reiliey of the Pittsburg aggregation is not playing the ball that was expected of him either. His batting has been miserable, and an explosion will undoubtedly take place in his neighborhood before long if he does not brace up.

The Browns batted the Baltimore pitchers all over the field yesterday and won their third consecutive game of the series by the long score of 12 to 1. McMahon, after officiating in the box for four innings after which he was relieved by Cunningham, who finished the game. Townsend again did the catching. Stivetts and Boyle were the St. Louis battery and but two singles were made off the big twirler. St. Louis only made two fielding errors, while the visitors were charged with four. The home team made twelve hits. Hoy played an excellent game,

Mr. Bushnell thought this was what caused the change and did not know that it would make any difference in the amount of the road's business given the two bridges. It was merely a business move, he thought, and did not believe that the Jacksonville had been forced by the Atchison or Gould. In fact he did not think the Atchison had the power to force the Jacksonville to do anything, as the roads were not in any son had the power to force the Jacksonville to do anything, as the roads were not in any way connected, so far as he knew.

In connection with the Jacksonville's transfer of its train service came the announcement that the freight transfer house at East St. Louis of the Terminal Railroad Association is to be closed on July I, and all the clerks discharged. The venture, on which nearly $100,000 has been expended, has proved a failure and its track and freight-house facilities can now be used by the Terminal Association in handling the business of the Jacksonville road. It was found that the transfer house interfered with the work of the regular freigh handlers and delayed it, and increased the expenses of the roads so they all decided to withdraw from it.
